ABOUT ME

I'm 26. I'm very interested in developing interactive and user-friendly websites. Therefore, I am constantly improving my HTML and CSS programming skills by developing websites based on ready-made layouts. In addition, I have also taken a course in JavaScript programming and applying Angular in web developing. I have a keen eye for details, as I have been involved in creating various printed graphic projects, such as event posters, brochures and flyers, using Photoshop. Based on this, I am engaged in creating UX/UI design of websites and mobile applications in Figma followed by an animated presentation of the finished layout. According to the results of online tests my English language level is B1.
